

On this day in 1846, Pony Express Rider William F. Cody was born. What do you think someone during that time period would think about today's popular method of communication – email?